Crowdsourced data is a vital part of the Internet, help us become better!

Livingcost is a crowdsourced database with a cost of living calculator for prices comparison in 9294 cities in 197 countries all over the world. The cost of living calculated as a consumer basket for a moderate lifestyle in developed countries and thus might seem too high for some least developed countries where maintaining such a standard of living is expensive.

Summary: People describe life in Turkmenistan as a mix of traditional and modern. Expats love the country's rich culture, friendly people, and stunning landscapes. The average cost of living for an expat is around $1,000 per month. The population of Turkmenistan is approximately 5.8 million people, and the largest cities are Ashgabat, Turkmenabat, and Dashoguz. The cons of living in Turkmenistan include a lack of freedom of speech, limited access to the internet, and a lack of economic opportunities. Additionally, the country is known for its oppressive government and lack of civil liberties.

Expats, digital nomads and retirees living in Turkmenistan responded:

"Expats and digital nomads living in Turkmenistan appreciate the country's rich culture and history, as well as its stunning natural beauty. They also enjoy the friendly and welcoming people, who are always willing to help out newcomers. On the other hand, expats and digital nomads may find the lack of modern infrastructure and the limited access to the internet and other services to be a challenge. Additionally, the country's strict visa regulations and the difficulty of obtaining a work permit can be a deterrent for some," explained one expat living in Turkmenistan.
