I have ten of this panels on an array ordered two more and the size has changed, 39.8 x 18.1 was first ten the last two are 35.24*23.03*. Ask about the change and was told they are a different size now. see pic for wrong information on site.

I am sure the product is very good. I am gathering equipment to replace my old outdated system so I have no review for this product at this time because I have not used it yet. Thank you for your prompt service but I have no assembly date at this time so can not give you a review.

I understand that a 100w panel will rarely produce 100w. However, this bifacial panel has yet to surpass 75w with perfect alignment, 12ga cables, proper connectors, and a clean surface. If I use a sheet of reflective mylar insulation aimed at the backside of the panel I can get an additional 5w. I am using a Victron 75/15 solar controller to get these readings using the Victron app.That said, the panel seems well made. I have a 20yr old 50w panel that is slightly larger, so it's nice that the panel is smaller. I wouldn't say that the bifacial feature is useless, but I wouldn't make that a deciding factor. $69 is a decent price overall.
