

Friedhelm loh company

Friedhelm loh company

In 2011, Prof. Friedhelm Loh established the Rittal Foundation to mark the 50th ...

Friedhelm Loh Group announces new member of the Board of Directors Read ...

Unternehmensgruppe | Willkommen bei der Friedhelm Loh Group. News Friedhelm ...

Engagement | Willkommen bei der Friedhelm Loh Group. News Friedhelm ...

Friedhelm LohFriedhelm Loh?,?Friedhelm LohFriedhelmRudolf Loh1961,""?

Friedhelm Loh Group is a German manufacturing and services group headed by Friedhelm Loh. It is headquartered in Haiger, Germany and has offices and production centres worldwide.

Friedhelm Loh Group grew out of a business founded in 1961 by Friedhelm's father Rudolf Loh that manufactured and sold the "first mass-produced enclosures for electrical control systems".[1]

The group employs more than 11,600 people (2021) and generates revenues of EUR 2.5 billion (2021).[2] The major companies in the Group's portfolio are Rittal, EPLAN, Cideon, LKH, Stahlo, and German Edge Cloud.[3]

Companies in the group and their products include:

Throughout the world, the Friedhelm Loh Group develops and manufactures innovative products and system solutions for industry, IT, trade and commerce. As inventors, developers and skilled producers, the Group's powerful, customer-centric and future-focused companies rank among among the top addresses in their fields.

Global players rooted in central Hesse, Germany

The companies in the Friedhelm Loh Group optimise and industrialise their customers's value chains in industry and IT. They include Rittal, the world's leading supplier of enclosures, power distribution, climate control and IT infrastructure, along with Eplan, Europe's number one provider of software solutions for machine and plant engineering and enclosure manufacturing, and agile startupGerman Edge Cloud using edge cloud solutions to ensure data sovereignty throughout the supply chain and develop real-time AI applications for industry and other segments. The portfolio is rounded out by seamless manufacturing expertise with the materials steel, aluminium and plastic at Stahlo and LKH.

Friedhelm Ioh company

Contact us for free full report

Web: <https://kary.com.pl/contact-us/>

Email: energystorage2000@gmail.com

WhatsApp: 8613816583346

