Inktec sublimation ink

An extensive range of specially formulated compatible inks for leading large format printers including Mimaki, Roland, Epson and Canon; plus our own range of inks exclusively for JETRIX printers.

Our dye sublimation inks offer extensive versatility for the textile, retail and fashion industries. With features such as superior colour vibrancy and colour across a broad range of media. Superior large format printer inks for textile printing.

Like all of our inks they offer outstanding printability through their superior colour gamut and light fastness. What's more the inks exhibit an improved ink flow, which delivers even better stability for high speed production environments. Specially developed by InkTec's dedicated in-house research and development team based in South Korea, using stringent quality controls. The range of inks are proven to be completely compatible with a myriad of the leading large format printing brands. These include Epson, Mutoh, Mimaki and Roland, plus some have the ability to be used with the Mimaki MBIS.

As these inks have been designed to provide the ultimate dye sublimation inks for specialist printers, many customers are using the inks to challenge the perceptions in the industry in terms of where and how items can be produced. For example, they are successfully printing in places that are apparently difficult to print or cannot be printed on such as underneath and on the handles of mugs and using a full bleed.

Designed and Developed by Oxfinder

For smooth ink flow without head clogging, we make particle size of dispersive dyes smaller under 100nm (0.1um) and use the high-class dyes to keep their colour shade in harsh conditions. The SubliNova Smart inks have superior printing quality under various printing environments. Find out more in our video.

These inks are also accredited with the prestigious Eco Passport Certificate by the Oeko-Tex(R) Association.
