'K' in social media slang is a shortened version of the word 'okay.' It is often used to acknowledge a message or response without much enthusiasm. Think of it as a laid-back, nonchalant way of saying 'got it' or 'I understand.' So, no need to overanalyze it - it's simply a casual response.

In the world of social media followers, 'K' and 'M' represent different numeric values. 'K' stands for 'thousand,' whereas 'M' represents 'million.' So, if someone has 10K followers, it means they have ten thousand followers, while 10M signifies ten million followers. It's all about the scale!

Ah, the age-old question: Is 'k' passive aggressive? Well, it depends on the context and how it's used.
