Vermont is a state in the northeastern United States. It has many natural landmarks, such as mountains and hiking trails. Skiing is a popular sport in the state with beautiful ski resorts scattered throughout like Stowe. The state is home to many agricultural products, including maple syrup, Vermont cheddar cheese and Ben & Jerry's ice cream. You can tour the Ben & Jerry's factory to see how its made as well as many maple syrup farms and sample or purchase along the tour. For nature lovers Lake Champlain, Quechee Gorge and Green Mountain National Forest are great places to see the stunning Vermont landscape.

Vermont, also known as the "Green Mountain State", is located in the New England region of the United States. It borders the province of Quebec, Canada, to the north, New Hampshire to the east, Massachusetts to the South, and New York to the west. The Connecticut River divides Vermont and New Hampshire.

Montpelier, the capital of Vermont, is located in the north-central part of the state. Burlington, however, situated in the northeast, is the state's most populous city, boasting a population of just over 44,000 residents.

The English first settled in Vermont in 1724, building Fort Dummer in the area. In 1777, Vermont declared itself an independent republic, separate from the British colonies of New Hampshire, New York, and Quebec. Fourteen years later, it became the 14th state of the United States, which recognized its previously established
