Most charging stations show a phone number that provides support for that station or charging point operator. Have the exact location of the station ready for the hotline. For fault analysis, it is important to know the exact charging point and, if applicable, the external circumstances or vehicle type. The more precise information you provide, the sooner the fault can be found, and the charging station can be made operational again for all e-mobilists.

Please describe your request in detail with the necessary information such as contract ID, date and charging station and attach photos or additional documents as a PDF if necessary. Please do not use Office documents or other formats that could potentially contain viruses or similar.
